

Frostburg Lions launches website

FOR THE CUMBERLAND TIMES-NEWS

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Lions Club has launched "We Serve," the organization's community website, which provides access to a variety of information and resources.

The site located at www.frostburglions.org can be used by the public in addition to Lions members.

There is a menu for general health care resources and information, where one can find direct links to a large variety of health care information and resources.

Additionally, visitors can email the Frostburg Lions nurse, and other Lions about health care issues, vision problems, and all Lions projects and program in the area.

The site provides pages and links on topics from news worldwide to the local police scanner, which can be listened to on one's home computer. Emergency preparedness is also well represented on the site, as are links for shopping, local resources, news, sports and weather.

The agenda for upcoming Lions meetings is posted, as well as the minutes of previous meetings.
